

Class 4d ~ Signs for utility companies and similar service providers

Class 4d was originally taken from the British control system. It does not seem as if a real need exist for this sign class in South Africa. Compared with other sign types it really does not have any significant influence on the visual environment or traffic safety. The exclusion of Class 4d from SAMOAC might therefore be seriously considered.

Some of these signs, such as signs indicating municipal bus stops, may be covered by the SADC Road Traffic Signs Manual.
