1. PURPOSE

- 1.1 To appoint a service provider to consolidate ('tie loose ends') issues that emanate from stakeholder engagements, including subsector Working Groups (WG) and Small Working Teams, and inputs from various other stakeholder engagement sessions undertaken after 31st March 2022 to date, and finalise a stakeholder report.
- 1.2 To explicitly incorporate into the overarching Ocean Economy Master Plan document the initiatives that were included in the subsector implementation plans but not in the main document. These subsectors are Marine Manufacturing and Repairs, Marine Transport (including Freight & Logistics), Offshore Oil & Gas, Fisheries (Commercial & Small - scale), as well as Aquaculture (Marine & Freshwater).
- 1.3 To make suggestions on how the existing coordination structures, especially the Delivery Units, could be optimally allocated to departments for coordination.

2. INTRODUCTION AND BACKGROUND

- 2.1 Cabinet, early in 2013, instructed the Minister for Water and Environmental Affairs to coordinate discussions between all relevant departments, public entities, and stakeholders to examine the economic potential of the ocean economy sub-sectors of Marine Transport & Manufacturing, Offshore Oil and Gas Exploration, and Aquaculture for South Africa to contribute to job creation and growth (DEA, 2014, p.2). That process started with the Phakisa Labs from 8 July to 15 August 2014 and produced detailed initiatives with clear actions that could, if implemented well, produce big and complex outcomes to move development towards government objectives of reducing unemployment, poverty, and inequality
- 2.2 The South African government had adopted the Malaysian Big Fast Results model of implementation to experiment for a period of 5 to 10 years, and, if successful, they would roll it out across all sub-sectors of the ocean economy. Thus, 15 August 2024 would be the tenth (10th) year of Operation Phakisa: Ocean Economy.
- 2.3 Incidentally, the Department of Planning, Monitoring and Evaluation (DPME), in September 2022, released a report on the implementation evaluation of Operation Phakisa programme ('Final Report on the Implementation Evaluation of the Operation Phakisa. DPME,2022'). Amongst this report's key findings are:
 - 2.3.1. The report's unequivocal support for the Operation Phakisa: Ocean Economy initiatives, including their action plans, as still viable proposals to achieve key outputs and outcomes necessary to help South Africa solve the problems of unemployment and create growth in the identified sub-sectors of the ocean economy. The report in this regard encourages consideration of the still-relevant initiatives of Phakisa in the future development planning initiatives of the government, such as the current Ocean Economy Master Plan development process.

- 2.3.2. The failure of the 'business unusual' implementation method that relies on top government authorities' support, then the 'traditional' or usual government implementation arrangements of the MTSF, APPs, and MTEF, for it to be implemented. The report, therefore, proposes, with caution against what it calls 'malicious compliance,' the moving of the Phakisa - Ocean Economy's implementation structures, targets, and initiatives into planning arrangements (MTSF, APPs, MTEF) of appropriate departments. Malicious compliance is explained as the inclusion of issues with no demonstrable link to advancing strategic objectives of government into the planning arrangements of government such as the Medium-Term Strategic Framework (MTSF), Annual Performance Plans (APPs), Medium Term Expenditure Frameworks (MTEF) and others.
- 2.4 As part of its Re-Invigorated Industrial Strategy (RIS), South Africa is engaged in a drive for sector-focused Master Plans in priority economic sectors. The Department of Forestry, Fisheries, and Environment (DFFE) was tasked to lead the development of the Ocean Economy Master Plan (OEMP) and its related Implementation Plans. The five (5) sub-sectors for which the Ocean Economy Master Plan is being developed are Marine Manufacturing and Repairs, Marine Transport (including Freight, Logistics, and Cargo), Aquaculture (Freshwater and Marine), Fisheries (Commercial and Small-scale), and Offshore Oil and Gas. OEMP (Version 4.1) was completed on 31 March 2022, and the development of the implementation plans, as well as other stakeholder interactions, are continuing. The officials of DFFE are experiencing several challenges, particularly around securing information to provide the basis for some identified priorities, as well as with the workload of extricating key issues as inputs for OEMP from volumes of recordings and reports made in the interactions with stakeholders.

3. OBJECTIVES

The potential service provider will be expected to perform the following duties:

- 3.1 Consolidate inputs made from stakeholder interactions that were not consolidated into the Draft Ocean Economy Master Plan (OEMP) of 31 March 2022, as well as establish synergy between the OEMP and related draft implementation plans.

- 3.2 Consolidate ('tie loose ends') issues that emanate from stakeholder engagements, including sub-sector Working Groups (WG) and Small Working Teams, and inputs from various other stakeholder engagement sessions undertaken after 31st March 2022 to date, and finalise a stakeholder report.
- 3.3 To explicitly incorporate into the overarching Ocean Economy Master Plan document the initiatives that were included in the subsector implementation plans but not in the main document. These subsectors are Marine Manufacturing and Repairs, Marine Transport (including Freight & Logistics), offshore Oil & Gas, Fisheries (Commercial Small - scale), as well as Aquaculture (Marine & Freshwater)
- 3.4 To make suggestions on how the existing coordination structures, especially the Delivery Units, could be allocated to departments for coordination.
- 3.5 Ensure explicit consolidation of the still-relevant Operation Phakisa: Ocean Economy initiatives into the OEMP and related implementation draft plans.
- 3.6 Make proposals on how the implementation of OEMP priorities that incorporate relevant and viable Operation Phakisa: Ocean Economy initiatives, could be made part of the current government planning arrangements (MTSF, APPs, and MTEF), including pointing specifically which departments or state entities could be responsible for identified priorities and coordinating structures.

4. SCOPE AND EXTENT OF WORK

- 4.1 The service provider will undertake an analysis of the inputs provided, existing reports, the draft Ocean Economy Master Plan (OEMP version 4.1), and the draft subsector implementation plans.
- 4.2 Provide recommendations on the allocations of existing and new coordination structures including Delivery Units to the departments.
- 4.3 The service provider shall extract key issues from the inputs made in the stakeholder interactions that were conducted by the officials of the Department of Forestry, Fisheries, and Environment (DFFE) that were not considered in the development of the Ocean Economy Master Plan (version 4.1). as well incorporates emerging aspects that were not considered in the draft Master Plan for inclusion into the final draft documents such as elements of the Marine Transport Value Chain. Emphasis is made that documents produced will constitute a final version for discussions with the DTIC-prescribed master plan co-creation structures in the form of Industry Reference Group (IRG) and Executive Oversight Committee (EOC). Before submission to the Cabinet.
- 4.4 To accelerate the finalisation of the Master Plan development process, the service provider shall or can opt to sub-contract secretarial service to:
 - 4.4.1. Transcribe recordings of stakeholder interactions to pick up critical issues raised,

- 4.4.2. Interact with convenors of Working Groups and Small Working Teams, as far as they need assistance clarity, and finality to issues raised in recordings.
- 4.4.3. The extent of the recordings to be dealt with will be provided at a briefing session to be announced.
- 4.5 The potential service provider shall in their proposals indicate:
 - 4.5.1. The approaches they will be adopting to undertake the tasks, especially the justification of why the proposals made will succeed,
 - 4.5.2. Consideration of the Final Report on the Implementation Evaluation of Operation Phakisa (DPME,2022) and Ocean Economy Master Plan (OEMP) (version 4.1) is critical. Potential service providers will receive these on the briefing sessions whose dates will be announced.
 - 4.5.3. Costs to the components of the project, considering the objective of the project and deliverables stated.
 - 4.5.4. Provide information to give insights to their level of experience in the undertaking of the nature of the task asked for herein.
- 4.6 The tasks shall be undertaken for a period of six (6) months from the date a service provider received an order number to undertake the task from DFFE, and every potential provider is expected to provide a project plan on how they will undertake the task within this timeframe.
