		environmental compliance and enforcement is allocated to all 3 spheres of government – its broad scope of environmental contraventions often overlaps with legislation administered by other sectoral department/regulatory authorities such as mining, water and sanitation, agriculture, labour, health etc. The referral of complaints needs to therefore take this complex legal mandate into consideration to ensure that the responsible organ of state responds. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>▪ The rationale for the Environmental Crimes and Incidents Hotline is to give effect to Section 24 of the Constitution which states that “Everyone has the right to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>▪ an environment which is not harmful to their health or well-being</li> <li>▪ have the environment protected for the benefit of present and future generations through reasonable legislative and other measures that...”</li> </ul> </li> </ul> These “other measures” include the implementation of a central, national point of entry for members of the public to lodge their complaints about environmental violations. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>▪ The Hotline will therefore enable citizens to exercise their environmental right, increase the capacity of the Environmental Management Inspectors to detect and respond to environmental contraventions, and further implement the Batho Pele principles of service delivery.</li> <li>▪ The most prevalent types of complaints received</li> </ul>
